LONG-TERM EXPERIENCE

Efficacy of Pharmaceris products confirmed by studies conducted at the Centre for Science and Research is based on thirty years' experience of our team of experts representing a wide range of fields, including dermatologists, allergy specialists, pharmacists, biologists and molecular biologists. Making use of the latest advances in cosmetology and the highest quality pharmaceutical grade ingredients, they develop innovative formulas of Pharmaceris products in order to address specific needs of problem skin types.

EFFICACY

Pharmaceris skin care products undergo multi-stage, multidirectional tests and strict assessment by dermatologists. In addition, many of them undergo clinical tests conducted at independent research institutes – hospitals or clinics, and receive their approval as effective dermocosmetics characterized by high tolerance.

PROVEN TO BE SAFE AND EFFECTIVE.

SAFETY

Exceeding mandatory requirements, the Centre for Science and Research is the only facility in Poland and one of few in the world to carry out its own in vitro and ex vivo research to investigate and analyze the effect of active ingredients on cultures of human skin cells and skin models. Pharmaceris formulas are subjected to such meticulous testing at every stage of their development in order to ensure their safety.

INNOVATION

With innovative active ingredients and extensive knowledge of our experts, our state-of-the-art laboratories develop unique formulas and complexes of world importance which are often the subject of patent applications. Research projects carried out by our experts and our findings in the field of cosmetology are published by the most prestigious scientific magazines around the world. Scientists who work for Pharmaceris have long been appreciated by the cosmetic industry for their outstanding achievements, knowledge and experience, and have been invited to participate in many scientific congresses and to co-operate on innovative research. By 2016 we have achieved 4 patents, which are used within Pharmaceris ranges.

Depigmenting serum for discoloration ACIPEEL 3^x

Concentrated formula based on unique complex of acids and a biologically active vitamin C regulates the process of melanogenesis on three levels to reduce the hyperpigmentation and prevent any new one. It reduces melanin synthesis and promotes its even distribution. Serum minimizes the appearance of hyperpigmentation by exfoliating the dead skin layers, lightens the outer layer of the skin and evens out its skin tone. It does not influence the pigmentation of healthy skin.

X-RAYS FOR THE SKIN AFTER RADIOTHERAPY

Pharmaceris X is a line of cosmetic products developed for the skin irradiated by X-rays, which destroy skin cells in the course of radiation therapy, causing serious problems to patients. The healing of irradiated skin takes several weeks, and skin care during that period can be a real challenge for patients. The key ingredient used in Pharmaceris X products is folic acid (folacin), which is a B vitamin isolated from spinach leaves. Folacin stimulates the division and regeneration of dermal cells, and protects the DNA of skin cells from X-rays. Radiation injury repair in skin cells exposed to X-ray radiation is quicker in the presence of folic acid. What is more, Pharmaceris X products are enriched with moisturizing, soothing and calming ingredients, which help replenish lipids and rebuild the natural lipid mantle, that protects the skin.
